

EDSA Summer Doctoral Student Bootcamp in Poland

hosted by the University of Gdańsk

ENGAGED UNIVERSITIES AND IMPACTFUL DOCTORAL DISSERTATIONS – AUGUST 28 - SEPTEMBER 4, 2022

The aim of the bootcamp is to capitalize on the opportunity to make personal connections and form alliances for specific R&D&I collaborative projects, publications, or doctoral education networks. Doctoral students and candidates will have a chance to work with the matching mentors, be advised on their methodologies, communication, and community engagement for the optimizing of their dissertation process and launching their academic careers as valuable contributors to social impact and SDG.

The program is broadly structured as follows (visit our website for more details: <https://edsaschool.com/>).

Choose on-site attendance with access to all activities and mentors or the on-line option with access to the academic sessions

Day 1: Arrival in Gdańsk

Arrive and check in at the venue. Get to know the campus and city while settling in to start a week of exciting networking and exchange.

Day 2: Welcome and development of doctoral knowledge fundamentals

Get to know the EDSA community and embark into a series of sessions around the academic journey. Start developing your cross-cultural network and pursue first interactions with mentors.

Day 3: Methodological foundations

Embrace the scientific method to further your research skills. Sessions will focus on various methodological approaches to set the foundations for a rigorous research project.

Day 4: Research Technology and Tools

Learn more about novel technologies that are impacting the academic and business world. Furthermore, sessions will focus on key data analysis tools applicable to your projects.

Day 5: Sustainability, Social Impact & Engagement

Sustainable and social impact are more important than ever. Sessions will foster discussions on how to link academic research with sustainable and social impact.

Day 6: The path to publications

Publications are integral during the academic journey during and after the doctoral studies. The day will focus on various perspectives associated with the publication process to make this endeavor a manageable practice.

Day 7: Evaluation and departure

Final sessions with mentors and recap of the weeklong learning process that serves as a catalyst for your upcoming academic journey.
